

PRESS RELEASE

Latest Safran aircraft seats and interiors on show at AIX Hamburg

Paris, June 9, 2022

Safran, a global leader in seats and equipment for commercial aircraft interiors, is presenting its latest products at Aircraft Interiors Expo, June 14–16, Hamburg, Germany.

All the products developed by Safran companies are brought together on the same stand to show visitors the latest innovations in passenger experience, cabin interiors and inflight entertainment.

Safran Seats is showcasing several new products:

- VUE, a new business class seat for single-aisle airplanes operating long-haul routes. This seat offers passengers a flight experience on a par with the business class cabins of widebody airliners.
- Unity, the new generation of business class seats for widebody planes, designed to offer a high level of privacy and comfort.
- Interspace, which won a Crystal Cabin Award in 2021. Developed with Universal Movement, Interspace is a padded wing that folds out between seats to provide passengers with better lateral support and more privacy.
- Euphony, an all-new wireless acoustic device that will be unveiled as a world first at the show.
